25 IMPORTANT PHONE NUMBERS
Dear Parents,

Welcome to the Bard College Parents Network. This handbook is your go-to resource for information about student life in Annandale-on-Hudson, including policies, procedures, and important dates and phone numbers. As assistant director of development, parent programs, I am here to support you and answer your questions about Bard and your student’s undergraduate experience. The College provides numerous opportunities for you to visit, get involved, and get a feel for how unique the Bard experience is for our students, and I encourage you to take advantage of every opportunity you can. To that end, here’s our list of the top 12 things to do during your tenure as a Bard parent.

• Read our monthly e-newsletter just for parents, Annandale Insider, for updates on everything going on at Bard—in Annandale and on our other campuses.
• Watch for e-blasts and news releases from the Parents Network. They contain important information about upcoming events on the Annandale campus and anywhere our worldwide Bard network is active.
• Come to Family Weekend in October. Autumn in the Hudson Valley is beautiful and the weekend offers a range of activities that provide a window into your student’s life at Bard, including classes with Bard professors, guided nature walks, performances, and meals.
• Volunteer to be a mentor to a Bard student during Bard Works, a weeklong career program for juniors and seniors held in January. Mentoring involves participating in a Skype introduction and mock informational interview, reviewing student résumés, making introductions to colleagues, offering job-search recommendations and other career advice, and answering specific field-related questions. You don’t need to live near campus to volunteer.
• Cheer on the Bard Raptors at an athletic event. Bard has 18 intercollegiate sports programs and five club teams that participate in games, meets, and matches on campus and throughout the Northeast.
• Attend a concert, play, or other arts event at Bard’s amazing Richard B. Fisher Center for the Performing Arts. Designed by Frank Gehry, the Fisher Center has been named one of the top college arts venues in the nation. Visit fishercenter.bard.edu to view the 2016–17 schedule of events.
• Visit the recently renovated Center for Curatorial Studies (CCS Bard) Hessel Museum of Art, an exhibition and research center dedicated to the study of art and exhibition practices from the 1960s to the present. CCS Bard’s permanent collection of contemporary art includes over 3,000 works by more than 400 of the most prominent artists of the 20th and 21st centuries. The museum presents several different exhibitions throughout the year.
• Attend the Hannah Arendt Center for Politics and Humanities annual fall conference, “Real Talk: Difficult Questions about Race, Sex, and Religion” on October 20–21, 2016. Past speakers have included Edward Snowden, Ralph Nader, Bernard Kouchner, and Richard Rodriguez. If you can’t attend, watch the live stream at hac.bard.edu.
• Attend one of the biannual Bard College Farm events—the Harvest Fest in the fall and the Farm Fest in the spring—where Bard student farmers sell the fruits and vegetables they’ve been growing, along with extras such as honey from the farm’s beehives and maple syrup tapped from trees on Bard’s 1,000-acre campus. Both festivals include live music from Bard students.
• Take a long weekend to tour the Hudson Valley. Visit one of the area’s historic estates, such as Montgomery Place and Blithewood, both owned by Bard, or others such as the Springwood Estate—Franklin Delano Roosevelt’s home—and the Vanderbilt Mansion in Hyde Park, Mills Mansion in Staatsburg, the Clermont estate in Germantown, and Olana in Hudson. Stroll through Hudson, Kingston, Rhinebeck, Tivoli, and Woodstock, five nearby communities that are rich in arts and culture and have a number of charming restaurants that serve delicious food grown and produced in the Hudson Valley.

- Attend Commencement Weekend. Bard does an extraordinary job celebrating our undergraduate and graduate students. Because we are a small, rural college, Bard cultivates a strong sense of place, identity, and intimacy; these traits are most apparent at Commencement Weekend, when parents, students, alumni/ae, and friends gather to celebrate the completion of our students’ academic careers. The special day includes a barbeque on the lawn at Blithewood and evening fireworks over the Hudson River.

- Make an annual gift to the Bard College Fund and, if you’re able, join the Parents Advisory Council (PAC). Bard’s PAC comprises dynamic, engaged, and supportive parents and guardians committed to enhancing and strengthening the Bard parent community, ensuring a rich and productive dialogue between parents and the College, supporting participation in the Bard College Fund, and assisting with student recruitment and mentoring.

Once again, I welcome you to the Bard College community and look forward to working with you during your student’s years at the College. Please feel free to e-mail (parents@bard.edu) or call me (845-758-7657) at any time.

Sincerely,
Hillary Henderson
Assistant Director of Development, Parent Programs
The Bard College Parents Network
Parents Advisory Council

The Parents Advisory Council (PAC) plays a leadership role in the Bard community by hosting on-campus and regional recruiting and mentoring events, promoting and providing career opportunities for students, and shepherding peer-to-peer fundraising. PAC members contribute to the success of the Bard College Fund by making annual gifts of $1,500 or more. The council meets two times each year—one during Family Weekend in the fall and once in the spring at the Bard Graduate Center in New York City.

PAC members receive
- An invitation to meet with President Botstein during Family Weekend
- Early notification of upcoming campus news and activities
- Invitations to small, select off-campus Bard events such as concerts, lectures, and salon evenings
- Advance notice of Fisher Center ticket sales
- Priority seating with President Botstein's party during the Commencement ceremony

Where Your Support Goes

Parent contributions to the Bard College Fund are a vital component of ensuring that the College maintains a healthy financial position; they enable the College to enhance the educational experience for all Bard students. The Bard College Fund provides scholarship dollars to 68 percent of students, as well as access to the latest books, technology, and online resources for the entire student body. In addition, the fund sustains faculty development and retention, student life, and campus facilities. Contributions to Bard College, a registered 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, are tax deductible to the fullest extent of the law.

Visit annandaleonline.org/giving to learn about the various ways to make a gift.

Ways to Get Involved

Bard Works

Bard Works is a career development program designed to support juniors and seniors as they prepare to move into the workforce. Now in its fifth year, Bard Works is coordinated by the Center for Civic Engagement, Career Development Office, and Office of Development and Alumni/ae Affairs. The weeklong program is held in Annandale and New York City and I suggest encouraging your student to participate. Parents are involved in Bard Works as mentors, supporters of the scholarship program, attendees at networking receptions, and participants on career panels. Bard Works has recently expanded to include a two-day event in Washington, D.C. in November and plans are under way to launch a Los Angeles component in the next year.

Recruiting

The experience and insights of Bard parents are especially valuable to the parents of prospective students. Each spring, the Office of Admission solicits volunteers to call parents of accepted students who are considering enrollment at the College. The Office of Admission also holds receptions throughout the year in various parts of the country that bring together President Botstein, prospective students, their families, and college counselors. Bard benefits from the generous community of parents who offer to host such events in their homes. If you are interested in being a caller or hosting an event, please contact Janet Stetson '81, senior associate director of admission and coordinator of faculty/parent/alumni/ae relations, at stetson@bard.edu or 845-758-7472.

RESOURCES

Dining Services
Bard has four locations where students can purchase hot meals, snacks, or groceries. Facilities include Kline Commons, the main dining facility on campus; Down the Road Café at the Bertelsmann Campus Center; Manor House Café in the Ward Manor residence hall on North Campus; and the Green Onion Grocer at Kline Commons.

Bard EATS (Eating Awareness Transforms Society) functions as an umbrella for all sustainability efforts pertaining to food as well as a platform to raise awareness about food and food issues on Bard’s campus. In addition to seasonal produce grown by students on the Bard College Farm, our dining service offers local milk, eggs, beef, chicken, produce, legumes, grains, organic bread, and fair-trade coffee. In March 2013, Bard College signed on to the Real Food Challenge, committing to serve 20 percent Real Food by 2020. Our average Real Food purchase in fall 2015 was 23 percent. We exceeded our goal five years ahead of schedule and we will continue to research additional local food providers.

Chas Cerulli is the senior director of dining services (cerulli@bard.edu or 845-758-7533) and Katrina Light is the food sustainability advocate (klight@bard.edu or 845-758-7345); you may contact them regarding special diets, allergies, or food procurement questions.

You can follow Bard EATS on Facebook, Twitter (@BardEATS), Instagram, and Tumblr (http://bardeats.tumblr.com).

Technology
Computers are necessary for all college students, but with more than 250 public access computers at Bard, it is possible to survive without owning one. Career Development Office (CDO)

Student Services
The Bard College Career Development Office (CDO), located in Bertelsmann Campus Center 201, is here to answer all internship, job, and career-related questions. CDO staff members meet with students one-on-one throughout their college life and after graduation, helping students determine who they are and what matters to them. CDO helps students translate their liberal arts education to the workplace. In addition to career counseling, job and internship guidance, and career events that include an annual recruiting consortium in New York City for juniors and seniors, CDO offers many online resources that provide job and internship postings, career exploration assessments, and interview coaching. Informal talks, career-specific panels, and formal symposia take place throughout the year to help students learn about various professions and connect with alumni/ae and employers.

The CDO website, bard.edu/cdo, presents the range of CDO services and offers the downloadable Bard Basic Job Guide and Career Guide for the Arts, which include sample cover letters and résumés, tips for the job search, and much more. CDO also reviews personal statements for graduate school applications and present workshops on applying to graduate school. Students and alumni/ae are encouraged to use CDO to seek assistance in exploring career options and support in applying for jobs and internships.

Student Employment

The Student Employment Office and the Career Development Office work collaboratively on posting all on-campus employment, jobs, internships, volunteer opportunities, and announcements of career events on CDO’s online job/internship board, College Central, collegecentral.com/bard. This collaboration allows students to search for jobs on and off campus simultaneously. All students MUST meet with Mark Schaefer, director of student employment, in the Student Employment Office prior to starting or returning to on-campus positions to be sure all required documents are on file. Students will receive instructions on how to log in to College Central on arrival day, August 6.

Parent Partnerships

CDO actively works with Bard parents on a range of activities and programs related to internships, jobs, career exploration, professional development, and more. We invite you to become involved with CDO via current programming or through new opportunities with you and/or your workplace. Some of the ways in which CDO has partnered with parents have included:

- Hiring Bardians for jobs and internships: CDO can help parents recruit Bard students and alumni/ae for job and internship opportunities at your place of work. Parents are encouraged to send opportunities to cdo@bard.edu. CDO also welcomes parents to participate in the annual recruiting consortium in New York City.

- Career exploration: CDO organizes a series of Career Exploration Trips, which are site visits to the offices of Bard alumni/ae, parents, and friends of the College. These trips allow students to gain inside perspective about career paths within specific industries, tips and advice from hiring managers, opportunities to network and engage with top employers, and more. Parents are invited to host a site visit to their company or organization.

- Professional development: Parents can participate in several professional development programs that CDO organizes throughout the year. These include mock interview sessions; various career panels and workshops; networking opportunities with parents and alumni/ae; sponsorship to select career conferences; and more. We continually seek to create new career-related programs, events, and opportunities for our students.

CDO staff look forward to working with you and your student. Feel free to contact CDO at cdo@bard.edu or 845-758-7539, Monday–Friday, 9 a.m. – 5 p.m.
Purchasing Books and Supplies
Located in the Bertelsmann Campus Center, the bookstore stocks books and supplies required for course work (including many used books) and a wide selection of general books, Bard sportswear, snacks, and other necessities. The bookstore also can special order any book in print. Students may purchase required textbooks after class registration. Most students use credit cards to purchase books; the bookstore also accepts cash and bank checks made out to Bard College Bookstore. The student’s Bard identification card can also serve as a debit card. For more information on establishing a Bard ID debit-card account (Bookstore Account), contact the Office of Student Accounts at 845-758-7520.

Textbooks are ordered from requisitions submitted by the faculty. Shelf cards indicate how many books are required for the course and whether a book is optional. Although the bookstore’s refund policy protects students in the event of a schedule change, students should not purchase books for any course they might drop. The bookstore website is www.bard.bncollege.com.

Residence Life and Housing Inquiries
Bard’s Office of Residence Life and Housing comprises two directors, four area coordinators, and a full-time administrative assistant. The director of housing and director of residence life work together to lead the department and strive to create engaging, respectful residential communities. Area coordinators are full-time professional staff members who oversee different groupings of residential buildings, divided into four areas across campus: North, South, Central, and Cruger Village. Area coordinators live on campus, coordinate administrative and emergency protocols, and supervise paraprofessional student staff members, known as peer counselors, who serve as resources within residence halls. They provide support to individual students as needed and coordinate with Safety and Security, Buildings and Grounds, and Environmental Services to foster a safe, healthy campus community. Any questions or concerns regarding your student’s experiences within a residence hall can be directed to the Office of Residence Life and Housing at reslife@bard.edu or 845-758-7455.

Office of Student Life and Advising
To ensure that all students are successful in their adjustment to college life, the Office of Student Life and Advising does its best to accommodate an individual student’s circumstances. Bethany Nohlgren, dean of students (nohlgren@bard.edu or 845-758-7454), is responsible for nonacademic matters and community or private concerns.

Bicycles on Campus
Bard encourages students to bicycle on campus. It’s a healthy, sustainable way to get around our 1,000 acres. Bicycles should be secured with standard bicycle locks. If a bicycle cannot be stored in a residence hall room, it should be locked and secured on a bicycle rack or in a designated bicycle-storage location. Bicycles are not permitted to be stored in residence hall hallways or common rooms due to fire regulations. Buildings and Grounds, in coordination with Safety and Security, will remove bicycles that are improperly secured to buildings, trees, fences, or light poles, or that block access to or exit from buildings (including hallways). The College is not responsible for damaged locks, or improperly stored or unsecured bicycles.

Bard provides a limited amount of indoor bicycle storage for winter break. In the summer months bicycles left on campus will be considered abandoned and donated to charity or recycled. Students working on campus for the summer should register their bicycle with Safety and Security to obtain a summer permit before Commencement.

A student-run bike co-op is a wonderful, free resource for the Bard community. Anyone is welcome to get help fixing their bike, learn about bike maintenance, or get involved in bike outreach programs. The Bike Co-op is located in the basement of the Old Gym.
The Office of Sustainability also oversees a BikeShare program during the academic year. Students may borrow a bicycle from the BikePark for one day use between 8 a.m. and dusk. Sign out is in the Security office. For more information, contact reduce@bard.edu.

Vehicles on Campus

Vehicles are not a necessity at Bard. Academic, social, and athletic events taking place on campus are within easy walking and biking distance of residence halls. The Campus Shuttle Service provides transportation to students living off campus, and makes trips to shopping centers and local destinations. Vehicles must be registered if they are parked on College property. Failure to register a vehicle may result in its removal from campus. A yearly registration fee of $200 allows resident and nonresident students parking privileges in authorized lots. A courtesy call to the driver of a vehicle improperly/illegally parked will be made to those who are registered, avoiding a ticket/tow. This courtesy call is not a guarantee. It is accomplished if the emergency dispatcher has the ability/time to initiate the call. The Faculty/Staff Main Lot is restricted. Students may not park in the Faculty/Staff Main Lot during normal business hours (Monday–Friday, 8 a.m. – 5 p.m.). It is recommended that resident-student vehicles be parked in the lot closest to their residence hall, and not driven to class. The campus shuttle can transport students to class or other campus locations if they prefer not to walk or bicycle.

Main Campus residents will be issued a special permit, allowing them to park in a designated row of the Faculty/Staff Main Lot, since the Olin (South Hall) Lot is closed at 11:45 p.m. each evening. No vehicle may be parked overnight in the Olin (South Hall) Lot.

Zipcar at Bard

Bard College has partnered with Zipcar to bring self-service, on-demand car sharing to campus. Bard students simply register to become a member, reserve a car online or by phone, unlock the car, and drive away. Drivers return the car to the same location where they picked it up. Learn more at zipcar.com/bard.

Membership is $15 per year. Benefits include:
- 24/7 access to Zipcars on campus
- Discounted rates for students age 18+, starting at $7.50/hour and $69/day
- Gas, insurance, and maintenance

Bard College Alumni/ae Association

More than 13,000 Bard alumni/ae make up the Bard College Alumni/ae Association. The association's mission is to help alumni/ae connect with one another and maintain a relationship with the College. The Bard College Alumni/ae Association Board of Governors leads the association; its members serve as ambassadors of the College through alumni/ae outreach and support of the College's fund-raising efforts. In conjunction with the Career Development Office, the association facilitates mentoring relationships between current students, recent graduates, and alumni/ae professionals.

Bard’s Office of Alumni/ae Affairs generates the College magazine, Bardian, and maintains a dynamic social and professional networking community, annandaleonline.org, which contains information on national and international events for alumni/ae, contacts for classmates, and other alumni/ae and reunion information. The Office of Alumni/ae Affairs is housed in the Anne Cox Chambers Alumni/ae Center, which was built through the generosity and leadership of a small group of alumni/ae. Situated at the gateway to the College, the center welcomes alumni/ae and visitors to Bard and hosts faculty and alumni/ae events throughout the year. The center is a dynamic campus space that provides conference and informal meeting rooms, exhibition areas, and offices for Bard’s alumni/ae affairs, development, and institutional support staff.
CAMPUS LIFE

Athletics and Recreation
Bard College’s athletics program has grown dramatically since the College joined the Liberty League in 2011. We have added new varsity sports teams, upgraded facilities, added full-time staff, and set up social media accounts, live stats, and live video capabilities.

Bard sponsors intercollegiate programs in men’s and women’s basketball, cross-country, lacrosse, swimming and diving, soccer, tennis, track and field, volleyball, baseball, and men’s squash. The College is a member of NCAA Division III, the Liberty League, United Volleyball Conference, and College Squash Association. Intramural and club sports include Ultimate (Ultimate Frisbee), badminton, basketball, fencing, equestrian, indoor soccer, rugby, and more.

Stevenson Athletic Center is the centerpiece of Bard’s Department of Athletics and Recreation facilities, which include the Lorenzo Ferrari Soccer and Lacrosse Complex; basketball, volleyball, and badminton courts; an indoor swimming pool; a cardiovascular center and weight room; state-of-the-art squash courts; lighted tennis courts; and other playing fields. In 2012 a $2.1-million renovation and expansion of the Stevenson Athletic Center introduced a group fitness area for yoga, aerobics, Pilates, and spinning; a new lobby and administrative offices; and improvements to both locker rooms. In 2014, Bard completed construction on Honey Field, the College’s new turf baseball field.

Bard parents of student athletes have recently formed a Friends of Athletics group that promotes sports on campus and makes designated financial contributions to the Bard College Fund for Athletics and Wellness. A group of students has also formed a fan club, The Bird Gang. There are Bird Gang T-shirt giveaways and contests throughout the school year at home events. The Bird Gang sometimes tailgates at games and occasionally travels to away contests.

Bard College students, faculty, staff, and their immediate family members can use the athletic center at no charge; membership options are also available for area residents.

Student Clubs
Students can choose from nearly 150 active clubs on campus, ranging in subject from astronomy to tango. Any student can start a club, including first-year students, and new clubs begin every semester. Bard does not have a Greek system; there are no fraternities or sororities on campus.

Student Government
All students can become members of the Bard Student Government, a democratic forum with three main functions: to raise issues and take action on these issues or to recommend action by the College; to provide student representation on administrative and faculty committees in all matters of concern to the College community; and to administer allocated funds for student-run organizations.

Opportunities to serve include the Student Judiciary Branch, which enforces policy and protects the rights of all Bard students; Student Life Committee, which coordinates with campus constituents to improve student services and residential life; Educational Policies Committee, which acts as liaison between students and faculty on academic issues; and Fiscal Committee, which allocates funds to student organizations. Student representatives are also elected as liaisons to the Board of Trustees and the Bard College Alumni/ae Association Board of Governors.
Civic Engagement
Created in 2011, Bard’s Center for Civic Engagement (CCE) supports, coordinates, and promotes the wide array of initiatives that define Bard as a private institution in the public interest. Bard has a strong tradition of community engagement, which encourages students to explore and develop leadership abilities and exposes them to community-oriented projects locally, nationally, and internationally. Whether through study abroad programs, internship opportunities, or the launch of a new student-led initiative, CCE helps students connect with the wider world around them.

CCE provides opportunities ranging from local community service days to international conferences coordinated with Bard’s partner institutions. Each summer, CCE awards funding for students to pursue internships, preprofessional experiences, and community action projects that address issues related to education, government, justice, human rights, media, public policy, and social entrepreneurship.

CCE’s Trustee Leader Scholar (TLS) program supports student-led civic engagement through leadership development and training in which students learn how to design and implement civic projects based on their own passions and interests. Examples of recent TLS projects include the New Orleans Initiative (more than 700 Bard students have participated in the rebuilding of the city), mentoring in local prisons to help inmates prepare for the GED exam, giving music lessons to low-income children in nearby towns, and running summer camps for children in a small Palestinian village.

Every Bard student is eligible to apply for TLS status for their project. Application decisions are made throughout the year and are driven primarily by the willingness and capacity of a student to direct a large-scale project. Most TLS students remain active in the program throughout their Bard years. They meet one-on-one with the program director and associate director, take part in skill-building workshops, and write formal project proposals, budgets, and evaluations. They are offered hands-on opportunities to acquire skills in grant writing, lesson planning, and group facilitation. Students who participate in TLS often find their program leads to employment opportunities post-graduation. For more information about CCE, visit bard.edu/civicengagement or contact Dean for Civic Engagement Erin Cannan at cannan@bard.edu.

Bard College Farm
The Bard Farm is a 1.25-acre urban farm that organically grows produce to sell to Chartwells, the campus dining service. Located on the northern edge of the College’s 1,000-acre Hudson Valley campus, the student-run farm is a site of inspiration that demonstrates the realities of small-scale farming and enriches the local food culture. The farm played an important role in helping the College achieve the Real Food Challenge ahead of schedule.

Your First-Year or Second-Year Student’s Extracurricular Experience
Bard’s Dean of Student Affairs (DOSA) Office supports first-year and second-year students. DOSA staff members are the primary contacts for students (and parents) who have concerns specific to the first and second years at Bard, such as social and adjustment issues, academic challenges or concerns, College regulations and requirements, and campus safety and security.

First-Year Experience
The assistant dean of students and director of the first-year experience works closely with new students to help them to take advantage of Bard’s many opportunities and resources. The dean also oversees orientation programming during the Language and Thinking Program, provides students with individual assistance throughout the academic year, and coordinates programmatic efforts that help to meet the diverse needs of the first-year class. Parents, faculty, and staff are encouraged to contact the dean with any questions regarding students of the first-year class.

First-year students also have the opportunity to begin their Bard College experience at Bard College Berlin.

Second-Year or Transfer Experience
Timand Bates ’02, assistant dean of students, provides personal and academic support to students navigating the distinctive challenges of the sophomore year. He works alongside academic advisers to help students identify a program of study and moderate into the Upper College.

Religious Services
The Chaplaincy and the Center for Spiritual Life at Bard have on staff an Episcopal priest, an imam, a rabbi, a Catholic priest, a Buddhist chaplain, and a community life chaplain. They offer formal and informal study with members of the College community who are interested in learning more about faith traditions—their own or those of others—as well as regular worship services. They also support and advise the Jewish Students Organization, Muslim Students Organization, Bard Christian Fellowship, Buddhist Meditation Group, and Catholic community. All the chaplains are always available to chat with students about anything at all, and they work closely with the Counseling Center and the Dean of Students Office to support students in their spiritual well-being.
HEALTH, SAFETY, AND SECURITY

Safety and Security/Emergency
The Office of Safety and Security provides service to the faculty, staff, students, and guests of Bard College, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 12 months a year. Bard security officers are New York State–certified security professionals who use patrol vehicles, bicycles, all-terrain vehicles, and foot patrols to keep vigilant watch over the campus. The office is managed by a director and an assistant director with extensive backgrounds in all aspects of college safety and security. All staff members are recertified annually by New York State’s Division of Criminal Justice Services. The Office of Safety and Security fully complies with all state and federal mandates and publishes a daily crime log and yearly crime report.

Incidents may be reported to the emergency dispatcher by calling 845-758-7460, or x7460 from a campus phone. In the event of a life-threatening/serious emergency, students should call the Bard College Emergency Line at 845-758-7777 or x7777 from a campus phone. At any time, 911 may be called for police or fire, although it is recommended that the Bard College emergency dispatcher be notified to allow Bard security officers to respond immediately. The emergency dispatcher may contact outside emergency services if necessary.

In cases of medical need/emergencies, the Bard College Emergency Medical Services (BEMS) may be contacted through the emergency line at 845-758-7777. BEMS volunteers are New York State–certified first responders and EMTs. All services are confidential and provided free of charge. Individuals who require it will be transported to nearby Northern Dutchess Hospital. The Office of Student Affairs and Office of Residence Life and Housing share a 24-hour, on-call rotation to respond to any student concern or emergency; a staff of highly trained counselors and health-care workers supplements these services. Health Services provides daily medical and counseling services to the student community. Safety and Security transports BEMS volunteers to those who need medical aid on campus.

A student-run emergency driver service transports students to and from medical appointments or for nonemergency medical needs. For those not wishing to walk around campus at night, a student–run golf-cart patrol safely transports members of the community around campus.

Should a communitywide/national emergency occur, our on-campus mass-alert system is initiated to inform the community. Notice is additionally posted on the inside.bard.edu website. Students can call a special Bard College emergency information number for real-time updates: 845-758-7000.

Safety and Security maintains a close professional relationship with local emergency services. The Red Hook Police, Dutchess County Sheriff’s Office, New York State Police, and the Tivoli and Red Hook Fire Departments are the public agencies that support Bard College, contributing to overall community/campus safety.

TRAVELING TO, FROM, AND AROUND ANNANDALE

We encourage all parents and family members to visit Bard and experience the beauty of our rural Hudson Valley campus. The College regularly offers public lectures, film screenings, and arts performances at several campus venues. Families may also want to cheer on the Raptors at an athletic event. The Hudson Valley’s outdoor recreation, cultural activities, and historic sites complement any visit to campus.

HEALTH INSURANCE AND MONEY MATTERS

Health Insurance
All full-time domestic undergraduate and graduate students are automatically enrolled in Bard College’s Student Accident and Sickness Insurance Plan unless they obtain a waiver by presenting evidence of their own health insurance coverage. A student with existing accident and sickness insurance coverage under another policy (self, parent, spouse, etc.) may waive the Bard insurance plan by going to www.ajfusa.com/students. Please refer to the insurance plan brochure (also at www.ajfusa.com/students) for complete details regarding coverage, benefits, limits, and exclusions.

All international undergraduate and graduate students are automatically enrolled in the Student Accident and Sickness Insurance Plan (as described above), unless they obtain a waiver by presenting evidence of insurance coverage from one of four different commercial providers. To compare the costs and benefits of these alternative plans with the cost of the Bard plan, go to www.ajfusa.com/students.

The insurance can only be waived online at www.ajfusa.com/students. Students enrolled in the insurance plan must actively attend classes for at least the first 31 calendar days after the coverage start date to remain eligible for coverage.

Billing and Payment of Tuition and Fees
Account statements covering tuition and fees for the term are mailed about 20 days before each scheduled payment date. The cost of tuition and fees is distributed over four payments, with the initial deposit paid at an earlier date. Payment dates are as follows:
• June 20, 2016
• July 20, 2016
• November 18, 2016
• December 20, 2016

The College also offers the Bard Budget Plan, an alternative payment system that allows student accounts to be paid in 10 installments from June through the following March. An application form may be obtained from the Office of Student Accounts.

A four-year tuition prepayment plan is also available to incoming first-year students who do not receive financial aid toward tuition. For those electing this option, the tuition cost for each year is stabilized at the first-year amount; if a student withdraws from the College, the excess credit balance is refundable.

All enrolled students must attend the financial clearance session scheduled at the start of each semester in order to confirm their enrollment and have their identification cards validated. Students who anticipate arriving after that date should contact the bursar (in the Office of Student Accounts) in advance. Students who do not complete the enrollment confirmation requirement are assumed not enrolled and their registrations and campus housing will be cancelled. Payment of a $100 fee must accompany requests for reenrollment. Students and parents or guardians are responsible for keeping the Office of Student Accounts informed in writing of their correct billing address.
Financial Aid

Generally speaking, there are three forms of financial assistance for students: grants, loans, and federal work-study funds. Bard awards financial aid on the basis of need, academic achievement, and promise. The College is committed to helping as many qualified candidates as its funds will allow. Need is determined annually by the U.S. Department of Education, the College Scholarship Service of the College Board, and Bard College. In order to qualify for financial aid, students must submit the appropriate forms annually; it is important to meet application deadlines. More detailed information on specific financial aid programs and application dates is available at www.bard.edu/financialaid.

Through the administration of its financial aid program—supported by the College’s endowment, scholarship programs, and parent and alumni/ae contributions—Bard assists approximately two-thirds of its students. Tuition alone only covers approximately 60 percent of the cost of a Bard education, which is why the College relies on the generosity of alumni/ae, parents, and friends to ensure that the quality of a Bard education is maintained.
COLLEGE POLICIES

Bard College Parent Relationship Policy *

Bard’s approach to its relationship with its undergraduates recognizes their status as young adults—even those few who have not yet reached the majority age of 18. Bard respects the role of parents, even if the College’s primary relationship is with its students.

Parents can become involved with Bard in many ways. We strongly support the efforts of parents to help their students develop into independent adults who take charge of their own lives and make decisions with greater confidence than before. Among the principles guiding Bard’s relationship with its students are the following:

• Students are trusted to be able to manage their own affairs, including decisions and responsibilities around academic, financial, and personal issues.
• Students are afforded privacy in their academic and personal lives. They are expected to act responsibly, and they should expect to be held accountable for their behavior. If they do make mistakes, Bard is committed to trying to help them learn and grow as a result.
• Students should and do have available College resources to help them help themselves in their academic and personal development.

Because of these principles, our compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), and the practical fact that Bard is unable to assess the nature of each student-parent relationship, in most cases the College leaves it to each student to decide whether or when to involve parents. Most academic and personal difficulties can be resolved on campus, without involving parents. That is because College staff members (for instance, residence deans, academic directors, and area coordinators) are committed to supporting students as they work through difficult issues.

In some situations, parental involvement or notification may be appropriate: when a student’s enrollment status changes (on leave, withdrawn, suspended, etc.), when there is a health or safety emergency, or when a student otherwise engages in behavior calling into question the appropriateness of the student’s continued residency in College housing or enrollment in the College. In these situations, we generally first encourage students to communicate directly with their parents. Where student consent is not sought or available, the College may still choose to disclose to the parents if permitted by law.

FERPA permits the College to notify parents under certain additional specified circumstances, such as regarding a student under the age of 21 who violates laws or College policies relating to the use or possession of alcohol. The College encourages its students and their parents to maintain an ongoing, open dialogue throughout the undergraduate years and to speak frankly about academic progress and personal responsibility, including the use of alcohol and general safety issues.

*adapted from Stanford University’s Parent Policy
Health Information Privacy
Bard Health Services staff members are ethically and legally required to maintain the privacy of protected health information. Under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA), no one—including family members, faculty, coaches, and employers—may be given any protected health information without the student’s written permission.

Alcohol and Drug Policy
Bard College is committed to providing a healthy learning environment that facilitates the highest level of academic achievement and fosters the full development of all students. The community strives to support and promote safe, legal behavioral norms and standards, with respect for individual integrity coupled with our shared responsibility to create a safe and vibrant academic environment. Students and parents can access the full alcohol and drug policy in the student handbook, www.bard.edu/dosa/handbook. Every member of the community is responsible for abiding by the alcohol and drug policy and encouraging others to do the same. The College expects that all members of the community will, through year-round educational programming and orientation events, familiarize themselves with the physical risks of and legal constraints on alcohol and drug use, and that they will make informed decisions regarding their own behavior.

Grade Release Policy
In compliance with FERPA, Bard College does not release information about students’ academic records to anyone other than the student unless:

- The student has signed a consent form, allowing their records to be released to the individual(s) named in the release; or
- The student is claimed as a dependent for tax purposes by either parent, in which case information about the student’s record may be released to either parent (regardless of which is the custodial parent). If you would like to receive information about your student’s academic record, please download the grade release form located at www.bard.edu/dosa/downloads. Information will be sent at the discretion of the dean of the College and upon request.

Consensual Relations
The College strongly discourages amorous or sexual relationships between faculty members and students, administrators and students, and staff members and students. Although the College recognizes that adults, including young adults, may make choices regarding personal relationships, amorous or sexual relationships between students and faculty, administrators, or staff raise serious concerns about conflicts of interest, validity of consent, and preferential treatment, jeopardizing a student’s educational program, as well as the learning environment for all students. For the full consensual relations policy between students and faculty/staff, visit www.bard.edu/dosa/handbook.
